RE: RELATIONS WITH THE CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE AGENCY
BRIEFING FOR SUPPORT EMPLOYEES WHO PREPARE
REQUEST FOR CIA NAME SEARCHES

On February 28, 1990, at 10:00 a.m. in Room 4017 (Intelligence Division Conference Room), SSA [redacted] Domestic Liaison Unit, Office of Liaison and International Affairs, will conduct a briefing for all support employees who complete 0-66 forms or prepare other communications requesting CIA name searches. You are requested to send at least one support employee from each unit. The briefing will include an explanation of how the CIA is organized and the function of the various components. Guidance will be provided on how to complete the 0-66 forms in order to get the best possible search. Special Agent supervisors are also invited to attend if their schedules permit. This will also provide an excellent opportunity for your staff to ask any questions they may have concerning the CIA.

NOTE: Captioned matter refers to a new Intelligence Community (IC) award, the ICSM, which fills a gap in the recognition for exceptional contributions to the IC. Previously, if a non-Governmental employee such as a defense contractor or consultant made a highly noteworthy achievement benefitting the IC, there was no medal to award. Accolades had to be restricted to private and limited acknowledgement. The ICSM is a selective award, which will publicly recognize outstanding contributions by private citizens. The next ICARP meeting is scheduled for 1/12/90.

REVISED

CRITERIA FOR AWARD OF THE

INTELLIGENCE COMMUNITY SEAL MEDALLION

The Intelligence Community Seal Medallion (ICSM) is awarded as recognition of an individual's sustained outstanding support to the Intelligence Community for which a regular Intelligence Community honor award would not be appropriate. It ranks with such awards in importance and may not be used as a memento of occasional or routine service or association with the Intelligence Community. It may be awarded to consultants and independent contractors of the Intelligence Community who have made an extraordinary contribution to the Intelligence Community's intelligence effort.
